Political Instability May Delay Victory Longer Conflict In Viet Nam Feared

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political and religious turbulence rocking South Viet Nam has caused some key U.S. military men to revise their estimates and predict a longer, anti-Communist war—and probably a longer American involvement.

Past predictions that victory over Red guerrillas might be achieved in three years or so were based largely on an assumption of political stability in South Viet Nam.

Some knowledgeable officers considered that time estimate optimistic, even before the Saigon government began repressing Buddhists last May.

Meanwhile, Secretary of the Army Cyrus Vance is about to leave on a two-week Pacific area tour which will take him to South Viet Nam about the middle of the month.

He will be the first top civilian official from the Pentagon to visit South Viet Nam since the Buddhist troubles broke out.

Some consideration was given to striking South Viet Nam from Vance's itinerary because of the delicate situation which finds the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem in conflict with U.S. policy.

Apparently the matter has been resolved in favor of Vance's going to Saigon—but informed authorities indicated he will confine himself to a military inspection and avoid any public comments on the Vietnamese political-religious crisis.

Present plans call for Vance to leave Sunday and stop at Hawaii, Okinawa, Korea, Formosa, Viet Nam and briefly in Japan, where he has been invited to confer with defense officials.

Although Vance ostensibly will pay attention chiefly to the U.S. Army and its activities in Viet Nam, he is expected to give Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara a report on his impressions of the difficult situation there.

While outwardly optimistic about the course of the war to suppress the Communists, McNamara has stressed it will be a long, hard struggle.

Adm. Harry D. Felt, the U.S. commander in the Pacific, told a news conference last January that he was willing to stand on a prediction of victory in South Viet Nam in three years.

The factors usually cited as hopeful included an increasing rate of defections from the Communist guerrillas, capture of more Red weapons, higher casualties among the Communists, and the

Approved Judge Authorizes Water District Establishment

LISBON — At a preliminary hearing this morning, Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard authorized the establishment of a regional water and sewage district in a 14-square-mile territory in Liverpool and St. Clair Townships.

The new district will be known as the Southeastern Water and Sewer District.

No one appeared at the preliminary hearing to protest formation of the district.

Judge Buzzard said he feels the project is necessary because of the housing developments in this area.

John Duffy testified for the residents who have been working toward a public system for several years. They allege the water level has dropped because of the number of wells, some of the water is "bacteriologically unsafe," and many of the lots were laid out years ago and do not meet present health board requirements controlling distances between wells and disposal facilities.

The territory includes sections 14 through 22 and 26 through 30 in St. Clair Township and the north half of section 32, the northwest quarters of sections 33 and 35, and the northeast quarter of section 34, all in Liverpool Township.

Present at this morning's meeting besides Duffy were County Commissioners Walter Hunston, Galen Greenisen and James W. Boyd; George Bloomgren of East Liverpool, engineer, and Harry Stockdale of East Liverpool, Columbiana County sanitarian.

County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw presented the petitioners' case to the court.

Judge Buzzard said a bond issue will be necessary to finance the project.

The judge continued the cause until the group presents the costs of the complete project, at which time residents of the entire area will be given another opportunity to voice their opinions at a hearing. He allowed six months for the group to organize and file plans and operation data.

Lordstown Operation To Be Slashed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 20th U.S. Army Corps has announced a drastic reduction of operations at Lordstown Military Reservation near Warren.

The Army said Wednesday that "the greater portion of the 523-acre reservation will become excess to Army needs. It will be offered to other military services to determine whether or not it is excess to all military requirements."

The announcement came with word that jurisdiction over the installation in Trumbull County is to be transferred from the 2nd Army to the Army Materiel Command. The Defense Supply Agency will assume responsibility shortly for the industrial plant equipment storage facility at Lordstown. Area support functions previously performed there will be transferred to other 2nd Army area bases.

Only 47 of the 229 civilian employees at the reservation will be kept on. Thirty will remain in caretaking capacities and 17 will continue as administrators of a contract for storage of industrial production equipment. Others will be offered opportunities to transfer or be given priority assistance and consideration for job vacancies at other Army or Defense Department installations.

All affected employees will be given 60 days' advance notice, at least 30 days of which will be in active duty work status.

The Army will continue its Reserve center at Lordstown.

Jennings Paving Contract Is Let

City Asphalt and Paving Co. of Youngstown was the apparent low bidder on the repaving of approximately eight-tenths of a mile of Jennings Ave., according to an announcement today by the Ohio Department of Highways.

The bid of $16,812 compares with the state's estimated cost of $18,300. Work is expected to begin this month.

The project calls for the repaving of Jennings Ave. from W. State St. north to where the curbing ends, approximately at the intersection of W. 11th St., and widening of a curve near W. 8th St.

The federal government will share in the cost of the project, along with the city and property owners.

Charred Body Believed Moio's Rockets Figure Shot Through Head

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Dominick Moio, Youngstown and Canton rackets figure believed to have known more about several gangland killings than he told, apparently has met violent death himself.

A charred body found in an automobile trunk Tuesday night probably was Moio's, Stark County Coroner G. S. Shaheen said Wednesday. The man had been shot through the back of the head, Shaheen said after an autopsy had been performed on the decomposed body.

Positive identification was withheld pending a report from the FBI on fingerprints.

"I would say the killing took place five days ago," said Dr. Shaheen. "The killer apparently shot him, dumped his body in the trunk of the car, poured an inflammable liquid over it, set it afire and slammed the trunk lid."

The death may touch off renewed large-scale investigations in Northeast Ohio that had been ordered by federal authorities after bombings in Youngstown. Edward E. Hargett, head of the

Threatens Court Action

Gosney Seeks Ouster Of GOP Roads Chief

The County Democratic Executive Committee is considering filing a mandamus action to force the removal of Chester Whitehouse of East Palestine as Columbiana County supervisor for the State Highway Department on the grounds he is engaged in political activity while holding a civil service job, Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, county chairman, said today.

Although Whitehouse resigned Tuesday night as East Palestine Council president, the Democratic committee's case is based on the fact the Republican's name appears on the Nov. 5 general election ballot as a candidate for the same post, Gosney said.

The committee is contemplating a mandamus action against the State Department of Personnel to force it to remove Whitehouse from the provisional appointment, he added. There has

34 Fewer Pupils at Lisbon Attendance Up In 3 School Districts

Columbiana County's three county school districts, Beaver Local, Fairfield-Waterford and United Local, enrolled a total of 4,787 students when classes began for the 1963-64 school term Wednesday, according to County Supt. James L. McBride.

The number is 120 more than entered the schools at the start of the 1962 term.

Opening of Southern Local schools was postponed a week and is scheduled next Monday.

Lisbon exempted village schools had 34 fewer pupils this year than last year on opening day, according to Supt. Oliver Payne.

A breakdown of districts with last year's totals in parentheses follows:

Beaver Local — 2409 (2327); high school 680 (586); public 822 (801); Calcutta 425 (457); Elkton 121 (128); Rogers 219 (206), and West Point 142 (149).

Fairfield — Waterford — 1032 (1003); Crestview High 273 (254); Fairfield 407 (437), and New Waterford 352 (312).

United Local—1346 (1337); high school 396 (374) grade school, (963).

Lisbon exempted village — 1487 (1517); David Anderson High 389 (394); Lincoln 586 (606), and McKinley 512 (517).

Columbiana County Retarded Children's School had an enrollment of 56 pupils on opening day, according to Robert Bycroft, county welfare director and head of the school.

A third countywide levy will be submitted to voters at the Nov. 5 general election, commissioners advised the County Election Board Wednesday afternoon.

Commissioners said they will file a resolution seeking a ballot place for a new levy of twenty-five hundredths of a mill to provide funds for child welfare purposes. It would be in effect five years.

Previously, the commissioners certified resolutions asking a vote on renewal of two existing levies—fifty-five hundredths of a mill, also for child welfare, and forty-hundredths of a mill for tuberculosis care.

Previously, the existing child welfare and TB care levies totaled 1.20 mills, but they were reduced to their present levels because of the countywide reappraisal of real estate for tax purposes and by action of the County Budget Commission.

In submitting the new proposition, the county is proposing three levies that add up to the same 1.20 millage.

State law provides that when property valuations increase, the size of a voted levy will be reduced correspondingly so that it does not produce more revenue than the amount for which it originally was enacted.

Frank O'Hanlon, Election Board clerk, said all three levies will be printed on a single combination ballot, if that proves feasible. He said the commissioner's notification yesterday means that more than two dozen special questions and issues will appear on the ballot in county subdivisions at the general election.

Closes Schools As Violence Erupts

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Four hours before three Birmingham schools were to be desegregated, Gov. George Wallace announced today that the city Board of Education had agreed to close them immediately for a temporary period.

And, he said, the board also had agreed to take legal action to try to stay the federal court order integrating the three schools. The action would be tied to an argument that integration would mean further racial violence.

Wallace's announcement, made through an aide, came at 4:20 a.m. (CST) after an all-night round of conferences between his staff members and city school officials.

The talks began in the wake of a sharp outbreak of racial violence which left one Negro dead in a melee involving hundreds of Negroes and city and county police.

At least 21 persons, including four policemen, were treated for injuries.

The outbreak which cost the life of John L. Coley, 20, killed by three bullets, erupted after the home of Negro attorney Arthur Shores was bombed for the second time in less than three weeks.

Negroes Throw Rocks As Police Arrive

Negroes in the neighborhood swarmed into the streets, screaming and throwing rocks at police as the officers arrived.

Soon after the outbreak was quelled, the talks between representatives of Wallace and the school board began.

There already had been brief disorders Wednesday at two of the three schools to be desegregated. And six parents had filed suit, with Wallace's blessing, to try to win a stay of the integration.

After the night of negotiations, Wallace in Montgomery issued a brief statement, saying:

"I have tonight asked the city Board of Education of Birmingham to close until further notice schools at West End, Ramsay and Graymont."

"The board has acceded to my request and the schools will be closed temporarily."

"The board has also agreed at my request to join in the petition filed yesterday to stay the federal court order integrating these three schools."

It was at Graymont, an elementary school, that two Negro brothers registered Wednesday. They would have started classes this morning with white children. Three other Negro pupils were to register and begin classes today at West End and Ramsay, both high schools.

Closure Details Left to Superintendent

Details of the school closings were left to Supt. Theo Wright. There remained a question of what results the closing of the three schools would bring in this city, already jittery from the violence and months of racial troubles.

When the outbreak came Wednesday night, Wallace alerted 500 to 600 National Guardsmen for possible duty here and offered to make another 3,000 Guardsmen available. Local police officials said the situation was under control without the help.

The city bulged with police. About 600 state troopers were on standby in Birmingham but were not requested by local authorities to help keep order in Wednesday night's outbreak and disorders during the day when white segregationists demonstrated.

Six white parents asked a federal judge for an injunction against integration of the schools because of violence. District Judge Walter P. Grew of Tuscaloosa took the petition under advisement, giving no indication when he would rule. Wallace said his office helped prepare the suit.

In Huntsville, Ala., 12 white children quietly segregated a previously Negro parochial school operated by the Roman Catholic Church. It was the first known integration of an elementary school in Alabama.

Justice Department Officially Silent

The Justice Department was officially silent on developments in Birmingham. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy huddled with aides for several strategy sessions.

Wallace said in a long-distance telephone speech to a states rights meeting Wednesday night in Baton Rouge, La., that "we have another example of the federal government trying to 'take over our school system.'"

Wallace ordered units of the National Guard alerted shortly after the disorders in the area around the blast-damaged home of Negro Attorney Arthur D. Shores.

The explosion came at about 9:45 p.m. Shores, his wife and 17-year-old daughter were in the fashionable brick house, still under repair from a worse explosion less than three weeks ago.

"My wife was thrown out of bed," Shores said. She suffered a bruised shoulder but he and his family otherwise escaped injury.

Hundreds of Negroes policed onto street corners as policemen quickly sealed off a five-block area around the blast scene.

When policemen, firing shotguns and carbines into the air started dispersing the crowds Negroes threw rocks bricks and bottles at the officers.

Fatally Wounded by Bullet In Neck

Fatally wounded by a bullet in the neck was John L. Coley 20, a Negro. Another Negro wounded by gunfire was in satisfactory condition.

Police officials said they did not know how the men were wounded. In the melee, four policemen, seven other white persons and seven other Negroes were hurt, most of them hit by bricks or other missiles.

Car windows were smashed in nearby areas. Motorists met flying bricks and bottles.

Negro leaders joined in trying to disperse the crowds.

Police formed 12-man lines and with their weapons firing into the air chased and pushed the Negroes back.

Sgt. H. T. Barron reported the

Two Drivers Cited Following Mishaps

No one was injured but two drivers were cited in two traffic mishaps investigated Wednesday by the Lisbon barracks of the Ohio Highway Patrol.

An auto operated by Carl R. Latham, 16, of Wellsville went out of control on a curve, crossed the centerline and sideswiped an approaching car driven by George E. Berdine, 24, of Lisbon on Rt. 45, a mile north of Wellsville, at 5:30 p.m.

Latham was cited for driving left of center.

Everett W. Jackson, 30, of East Liverpool lost control of his car on a curve, causing the vehicle to go off the right side of the road and overturn at 2:30 a.m. on Rt. 7, just south of Rogers. He was cited for traveling at a speed excessive for road conditions.

Plane Crash Wiped Out Fifth of Swiss Village

By HANS NEUERBOURG

DUERRENAESCH, Switzerland (AP)—Switzerland today mourned for victims of its worst airline disaster, a crash that killed 80 persons, including almost a complete generation of the farming village of Humlikon.

"This is worse than a war," said a farmer in Humlikon after being informed that his parents were among the 43 passengers from his village killed when a Swissair twin-jet Caravelle from Zurich exploded and crashed in fog Wednesday. All 74 passengers and six crewmen were killed.

Humlikon lost about one-fifth of its 217 population. The community also lost its mayor and all councilmen.

With the other villagers, they were heading to Geneva to visit an agricultural experiment station.

For many of the villagers, it was their first flight. There were 19 married couples among them. They left 40 orphans.

Despair and disbelief hung over Humlikon. No children played. Red-eyed adults conversed in whispers.

Said Gottfried Meisterhans, 28, whose parents perished in the disaster:

"This is terrible. This is worse than war because it wiped out virtually a whole generation."

"My parents wanted so badly to make this flight. I would have loved to go too, but my parents thought I and my wife would have more chances to fly. So we agreed that they make the trip. This is fate."

"What shall we do now? How can people be able to continue here? All fields are worked by the families themselves. None has a farm hand."

Nothing resembling a human body was found after the $3-million French-built airliner, bound for Geneva and Rome, plowed into a grassy field on the outskirts of Duerrenaesch. Blasting a crater 18 feet deep, it disintegrated. The biggest piece of wreckage found was a six-foot section of one wing.

Among the dead was one American, Emerson Glauber Jr., 36, of Rockton, Ill. Glauber, a divisional sales manager of the Beloit Corp., manufacturer of papermaking machinery, was on his way to a paper mill in France.

Six foreigners and 68 Swiss made up the passenger list. All the crew members were Swiss.

The crash occurred eight minutes after the plane had taken off and shortly after the pilot had radioed a "Mayday" disaster signal and desperately cried "No more! No more!"

Rumors circulated that the plane may have been sabotaged after some witnesses said it disintegrated in the air. But Col. Karl Hoegger of the Swiss Federal Air Office said evidence collected so far appeared to rule out foul play.

"But," he added, "of course I cannot prove this."

Some Teachers Use Text Merely As a General Guide

By The Reading Laboratory, Inc.

We've just passed the halfway point in our 30 articles, so let's take a brief backward look to see what we've covered.

By now you should be developing a point of view for each course—trying to find the purpose behind each course. You've studied the instructor—what are his biases, what is he trying to accomplish. You're trying to bring your outside knowledge into each course and are in the process of developing a course vocabulary. By now, you've found the proper environment, just the right little cubbyhole where you can study best, and you're budgeting your time—studying in spurts to help your memory.

You've overviewed the textbook, using the Table of Contents and Unit summaries, or whatever other aids were available. You overview each Unit as you come to it and finally, you apply the "survey and resurvey" method to each textbook chapter. In connection with the "survey and resurvey" method, we've discussed maps and graphs, memorization and the best ways to become an active reader.

IN THIS ARTICLE, we'll see how to use your studying at home to make your class work easier and vice versa.

If your teacher just follows the textbook, you've no problem. If you fall asleep in class, you can always find all you need to know in the textbook that night. But most teachers just use the text as a general guide; their class lectures may concentrate on points that are only briefly mentioned in the book if at all. In a case like this, a little planning can save you a lot of work. Here's what you should do:

The night before the class, survey the next textbook chapter a couple of times. Use the bold print, the summary, the maps and the graphs. Don't dig into it too deeply — just get a general idea of what's in the chapter and some idea of how detailed the chapter is.

IN CLASS, THE NEXT day, you need to take notes only on what is not in the textbook. There's no point in rewriting the textbook in class. A good overview the night before (it takes only 10 minutes) will save a lot of unnecessary scribbling during class and will give you a chance to really listen to the teacher for a change.

Ideally then, your text will provide the background that will let you take an intelligent part in class discussions. If your teacher marks for class participation, work up questions on the text the night before and bring them up in class. Make sure they're good questions; those that are only time-wasters will pull your mark down.

Briefly then: if your teacher follows the text exactly, just study the text. If he uses the text for background, overview the chapter the night before class and take lecture notes only on what is not in the text. And use your overview of the chapter so you can shine in class discussions.

Also the Art of the Impossible

If politics is the art of the possible, as many like to believe it is, it likewise is the art of making impossible some things that otherwise would be possible.

It is the art of being obstructive as well as constructive.

This seems to explain the thinking of a politician like Alabama Gov. George Wallace, who keeps himself in the news by obstructing what otherwise might be peaceful progress toward educational integration in his state.

But keeping racist politics out of anything in segregated states is asking the impossible. In these states, Negroes rarely are permitted to vote. The core of a politician's strength is the anti-Negro vote. He has nothing to fear from Negro voters.

Moderates are a minority without strong influence. Even politicians whose personal inclinations lean toward moderation on the race issue must preach hatred and violence on the stump if the want to survive.

ONLY ONE thing could shut them up. If Negroes voted, there would be no political percentage in obstructing integration, not even in Alabama and Mississippi.

The right to vote is the key to the problem.

Everything else is subordinate and incidental to the use of the ballot, once guaranteed by the 14th amendment and thereafter systematically denied in states whose politicians have made careers of denying civil rights to Negroes.

Getting To Know Them

More than the bamboo curtain hides the sprawling enigma of Red China from Western eyes.

To most of us, ideograms—the picture writing of the Orient—are nothing more than artfully contrived brush marks which march in mysterious array up and down the sides of packages of imported teas. The number of Western persons with knowledge of the Chinese language is microscopic, indeed.

Meeting of minds and exchange of ideas must come through a third-person, interpretive relationship.

Pointing out the growing awareness of interest in—and need for—more bridges the understanding is the fact that some 75 high schools now offer Chinese, and several will teach Japanese this fall. As recently as five years ago, less than 10 secondary schools in continental United States offered such courses.

Giving impetus to this beginning is a recent $180,000 grant to the University of Southern California by Carnegie Corporation of New York. USC will use part of the three-year grant to select, train and work with high school teachers of Chinese and Japanese for several southern California schools.

This moves ultimate benefit of the teaching down from college level to high school where, perhaps, a thirst to know more of the Orient will be stimulated.

It is through beginnings such as this that the greatest weapon for mankind's well-being is forged in the arsenal of understanding.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

My vacation this year was turned over to deferred maintenance on our miniscule spread in Rosy Fingered Dawn. At prevailing prices, I earned a thousand dollars a week for three weeks, patching, painting, scraping and putting.

Year by year, I grow more impatient about using public money to buy the cooperation of governments that would be hostile if the United States quit buying them off. They are taking this country for all it's worth, and we should react accordingly.

There are two strong nostalgias that affect me. One is the smell of carnivals and circuses, recalling all the fun these things represented when I was a child. The other is my recollection of the fun I had playing football in an era when desire was more important than poundage.

It is hard for me to roll my eyes and flap my ears about the Negro girl who married the white boy at the University of Georgia. As I get the story of what went on in the good old South for generations before anyone worried about such things, this was the pattern of all voluntary integration.

Inflation is easy to conceal in large exchanges, like the purchase of an auto. Where it draws blood is in small exchanges, like the kind in drug stores, where what once was a 29-cent purchase now takes everything but the wrinkles out of a dollar bill.

If you wonder about the dilapidated condition of roadside post boxes in the country, these installations take a terrible beating from weather, salt on the highways, flying stones and snow plows. Ours requires complete rehabilitation every two years to keep it looking spruce.

The latest dog to call the Twillery home is a white German shepherd, Our Tiptitz looks, moves and eats like a wolf, though his deportment is that of a kitten.

I would be happier about the whole thing if senators hashing over the nuclear test ban treaty would stick to facts and skip windbab statements that will haunt them in years to come. They don't know any more about the whole matter than a pig knows about Yom Kippur and should be guided accordingly.

Is there anything half so tender as a slicked-up toddler being escorted to the first day of school by a doting mother? I mean the doting mother, not the toddler, who as often as not is screaming and kicking.

Several times during my vacation I took off at random and drove through my own countryside until it was time to turn back for dinner. I contend if our scenery were abroad, instead of here, we'd bring home picture post cards and colored slides to show the neighbors.

Landis Deserving of Judge's Compassion, Help

By DAVID LAWRENCE

A human problem that concerns the future of one man can sometimes be challenging as well as baffling. To rescue a man—trapped in a coal mine, for instance, hundreds of feet below ground—heroic feats of daring have been tried and have been successful. But how shall a man be saved from himself and the ailments

David Lawrence from himself and the ailments that have dragged him down to disrepute?

The nation has just read that James M. Landis, a respected lawyer, a former government official of prominence and an able public servant, failed to pay his income taxes for the years 1958 through 1960, and now has been sentenced to a prison term for his offense. He was earning large sums—enough to pay what was due the government. He pleaded guilty to willful failure to pay, and when the Internal Revenue Service served him with its demand for payment, he complied. He gave in court the explanation that he had been too busy with his work to file his returns.

Yet this man was chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission in the 1930s, by appointment of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and later became chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board under President Truman.

He served under President Kennedy for a few months in 1961 as special adviser on problems of the regulatory agencies of the federal government. He had been dean of the Harvard Law School from 1937 to 1946 and had become a member of a prominent New York City law firm.

WHAT, THEN, is the real explanation for this strange behavior? The public is left to guess or infer what it wishes from a reading of the remarks made in the courtroom by Judge Sylvester J. Ryan of the U. S. District Court as he sentenced Mr. Landis to serve three concurrent terms of 30 days each in prison and to undergo a year of probation. Judge Ryan said in part:

"It's not a pleasant task . . . you still have fruitful years before you. You still can perform some service for the government. I think you and I understand each other. . . ."

"You and I are old men and we have human weaknesses. I have the psychiatric report in front of me. I know the habit you formed is difficult to control. It entrapped many, many brilliant men like you. Here I'm giving you a sermon. You could give me a sermon, I'm sure. Maybe we'd both be right . . . but I can't let you go today. I must impose sentence on you in fairness to justice . . ."

"Maybe you can take your place back in life where you belong. God will give you the strength and character to overcome your affliction."

But what was the "habit" to which the judge referred? News-men later wrote that they had learned that it was not narcotics or drugs. At one point Judge Ryan in his comments in court had said:

"The probation report also shows that he (the defendant) is receiving for some period of time psychiatric treatment. He has been emotionally involved as far back as 1945."

MR. LANDIS had been brought to court from the neurological institute of Columbia - Presbyterian Medical Center, where he has been for several weeks. When asked by the judge to make any statement he wished, Mr. Landis replied:

"I'd like to make this brief, don't know how I can add much to the case. I'd like to express my regret, and, indeed, my repentance, for the folly that led me to put off the filing of these returns. I was getting my work back into shape."

The causes of lapses of memory or emotional disturbances are not easily ascertained. Sometimes psychiatric treatment has been of little avail.

There have been cases of irregular behavior, too, in which no particular habits have been involved, yet individuals have deliberately committed acts of dishonesty in violation of the law. In one instance dealt with here many years ago, a very wealthy man with no previous record of a bad habit, such as alcoholism or narcotics, not only failed to pay his income taxes but, even after he had been paralyzed for this, repeated the same offense not long afterwards.

The speculation in that case turned toward various aberrations. Were there not days or hours when some thought might have been given to the payment of one's income taxes? Medical experts say that sometimes a kind of blind spot or delusion arises with respect to a single subject, and the individual himself seems helpless to evaluate it or to overcome it.

Whatever be the quirks of mind that produce erratic acts, even as normal lives are pursued in every other respect, the fact remains that the law has to deal on a parity with the prominent, as well as the inconspicuous citizens in the community, as an example to others.

A SOCIETY governed by law has to mete out its punishments unless, to be sure, a board of psychiatrists recommends some other course to the court. The attorney for Mr. Landis was asked by the judge whether he felt that the defendant was mentally competent to stand trial, and the lawyer answered in the affirmative.

Sometimes the prison sentence, however brief, constitutes a shock which in itself is a helpful factor in bringing about a substantial change in attitude on the part of the afflicted individual. More often it is a willingness to submit to and rely on a power of guidance stronger than one's self which brings about the miracle.

Many a businessman finds now and then among his employees a case which has defied the efforts of both psychiatrists and clergymen, but sympathetic friends, inspired by a spiritual feeling and dedicated purpose, have managed somehow to help an unfortunate individual to reconquer himself.

This correspondent had a casual acquaintance many years ago with Mr. Landis in New Deal days and has often differed with his views on public questions but James M. Landis is deserving not only of the compassion which the judge exhibited but the sympathetic help of those who do know him so that he may be aided in fulfilling the hopeful prophecy of Judge Ryan when he said to the prisoner at the bar: "You still have fruitful years before you."

Labor In 'Goldfish Bowl'

By VICTOR RIESEL

It's now four years and 300,000 "goldfish bowl" financial reports after the act. The act is the controversial Labor - Management Reporting and Disclosure law.

It became effective Sept. 14, 1959, amid vehement protest by union chiefs that the opening of their money records to the public would cripple labor.

Labor hardly is hobbling despite the fact that it has had to live in a goldfish bowl and show its expenditures to any rank-and-file or curious citizen who asks the government for a copy of the reports on file.

For an inside view of the act's operations I went to the one man who knows it best. He is John Bureau of Labor-Management Reports for the first four years. From him I have just gotten this exclusive analysis.

There have been 12,000 investigations.

These probes uncovered some 8,000 violations of the act, also known as the Landrum-Griffin law. Most of the probes resulted from rank-and-file complaints.

FOR THE FIRST time the membership now had a force to turn to when they were being pushed around or when they believed that union funds were being lifted from the treasury, or they knew that elections were being stolen.

Most of the violations were not willful. But there were some 500 instances which were serious and involved some mighty tough characters.

"Criminal convictions have been obtained in over 100 prosecutions," Mr. Holcombe told me. "No international union has had more than six convictions except the Teamsters, which has had 25."

"Nearly 200 elections of union officers have been found to violate the law or are in court. There have been 13 cases where unions, and employers, have refused to make available their records in compliance with subpoenas which I issued. In two such cases, the Teamsters carried their objections all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court without success."

I asked Mr. Holcombe to discuss one of the biggest cases he handled.

HE REPLIED: "Though the Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union was investigated by the McClellan Committee and the FBI and was expelled by the AFL-CIO, it continued under the same leadership. The financial report to the Bureau of Labor-Management Reports in 1961 showed $35,000 received as repayment of a loan by a local. A check of a report (the bureau) filed by that local showed no comparable disbursement.

"An intensive, nationwide investigation disclosed a complicated scheme under which union funds were shifted around — to cover up a theft that occurred before the Landrum-Griffin Act was passed. The international president, secretary-treasurer, a covey of vice presidents—and the union lawyer — have been convicted.

These financial reports are on file in what insiders call the "goldfish bowl" section. For 25 cents a page any citizen can get a copy of a union report. Thus, as the instance of a New Jersey union, it was easy to discover that an official missing for over a year was still on the local's payroll.

It's a simple matter to learn which Teamsters leaders' salaries total $75,000 or more a year. Or from how many sources inside the union structure they draw money. And how much of it is for expenses.

BUT THERE is no attempt by the bureau to trap any labor leader.

"In the first three months of this year," Holcombe said, "more than 500 clinics were held throughout the country, usually under the sponsorship of labor central bodies. Over 12,000 union officers were taught at these sessions how to conduct the affairs of their unions in accordance with the principles of the act."

Holcombe feels the four year record is encouraging. But his final words are:

"No agency of government alone can assure the proper operation of any part of our society. As there is no substitute for an informed and active citizenry at town or national level, so in conducting labor-management relations there is no substitute for the active participation in union affairs of informed rank and file members."

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Grooming Lacking

Dear Ann: This problem is a hot potato which has been kicking around our office for months because no one knows what to do about it.

A certain girl who came to work here quite some time ago is just as pleasant as she can be. She's efficient, gets her work done early, then helps others to do theirs. But one thing about her bothers all of us. Even the men have commented on it.

She is one of those "clean on top dirty underneath, types," as my mother used to say. Her face always is made up just so and her hair is lovely but her lingerie straps are filthy, her slips look as if they have never been laundered and if her garter breaks she doesn't bother to sew it back on.

She pins her stockings to her girdle. When she crosses her knees and the pins and her dirty slip show, it's revolting.

Should we accept her for her good qualities and keep quiet, or should somebody tell her? If so who—and how? — VIEW FROM THE 4th FLOOR.

Dear View: She sounds like a lovely girl who never was taught the importance of good grooming.

The most tactful person in the office (and preferably an older woman) should tell her gently and in private that her shortcomings in grooming are destroying much of her charm.

A Rare Cem

Dear Ann: I'm a girl 22 and I'm about to be engaged. Chet is still in college. He comes from a well-to-do family and works summers for his dad. Chet has saved some money toward marriage because I told him I wouldn't marry him unless he proved he could save. His folks have spoiled him rotten.

Now he wants to give me a big diamond ring which belonged to his grandmother. I don't want his grandmother's ring. I'd rather have a single pearl which he paid for himself.

Chet says I'm out of my skull and my mother agrees with him. What shall I do?—PLAIN JAIN.

Dear Jain: At a time when so many young girls are looking for men with the aid of a Geiger counter it's downright refreshing to hear from a gal who has uncommon common sense about money and diamonds. Tell Chet you appreciate the sentiment attached to an heirloom but you are not marrying his grandfather and you'd prefer a single pearl.

Confidentially

TO IN LOVE WITH A NEUROTIC: Accept the situation and learn to live with it. Successful people must be driven or they wouldn't achieve anything.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NON-FICTION

HOW TO READ AND UNDERSTAND FINANCIAL AND BUSINESS NEWS. A very useful tool for all those who like to make their own selection of stocks to buy or for the person who just wants to know what it is all about. The book was prepared by the financial and business news staff of the New York Times.

PICTORIAL ASTRONOMY by Dinsmore Alter and others. This is the second revised edition of a title which has been consistently popular since its first appearance in 1948. It is divided into sections on the sun, the earth, the moon, eclipses, the planets, comets and meteors, and stars and nebulae.

GARDEN SMARTLY by Nancy Ruzicka Smith. A garden book especially for the beginner, just as this has plenty of "don'ts" along with the "do's" so that you may avoid some costly mistakes.

HOW TO MAKE CHILDREN'S FURNITURE AND PLAY EQUIPMENT by Mario Dal Fabbro. There are sixty projects in this book. They range from the simplest box-like set of shelves to chests of drawers and all other furniture for the child's room. Instructions are adequate but brief, drawings clear and plentiful.

THE LONELY VOICE by Frank O'Connor. A collection of essays on the great short story writers of the world, their work, and how one can appreciate it.

BRITANNICA LIBRARY OF GREAT AMERICAN WRITING edited by Louis Untermeyer. Mr. Untermeyer has collected the writing which he thinks best represents the true nature and genius of America. He has also provided historical notes and a running commentary which brighten and live the original works.

A NATION NEEDS TO PRAY by Robert B. Anderson. This is blank verse beautifully illustrated by black-and-white photographs. The photographs do much to make the meaning of the verse concrete.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE by Alfred Harbage. This is an explanation of the plays together with a prose recounting of the plot.

HISTORY OF SOVIET LITERATURE by Vera Alexandrova. This has only a brief chapter on pre-revolution literature, it is chiefly a history of the literature since 1917. Some of the authors discussed are - Ehrenburg, Pasternak, Sholokhov, Didintsev, Alex Tolstoy and of course Yevtushenko.

THE EXPLORERS compiled and edited by G. R. Crone. The narratives of exploration in this volume have been excerpted from accounts by the explorers themselves and range in time from the seventh century to the present.

MAJORCA by Luis Diez Del Corral. The author describes the island - not in terms for the tourist, but in those of the person who appreciates beauty. He tells also of the people who have lived there in times past and what they have said of the island.

IS THERE A LIFE AFTER BIRTH by Alexander King. Still more of Mr. King's memoirs - so unlikely that one thinks he must have made them up, but usually so interesting one doesn't care if he did.

HERMAN MELVILLE by Lewis Mumford. This is a new edition of an excellent biography of Melville written quite a few years ago.

MRS. G. B. S. by Janet Dunbar. Very little has ever been written about Mrs. Shaw, as she has been so overshadowed by her famous husband. But in this volume we find that she is a very interesting person in her own right.

GILBERT AND SULLIVAN by Norman Wymmer. These two musicians and partners are always of interest to many people, just as is their music. This is readable and brief, yet discusses their lives and their work.

Reference:
THE MAN - IN - SPACE DICTIONARY by Martin Caidin. Mr. Caidin has done a good service in defining in clear, by largely non-technical terms almost 1,900 words which have come into being since the advent of the space age.

FICTION
EXPLOSION ON A CATHEDRAL by Alejo Carpentier. A novel for those who appreciate really good writing and who can take the time to appreciate the imagery and the nuances of the many-faceted plot. The background is the French Revolution, particularly in the Caribbean. The chief character is one Victor Hugues who was historically a minor figure at the time. Principal concern of the author is with the changes in him as he gains power, and how these changes affect those to whom he is important and dear.

THE CELEBRATION by Mary Deasy. The Courname family is having a reunion. The occasion is the twenty-fifth anniversary of one of its members becoming a priest. The story is told by each person of the family in turn and runs the scale from humor to savagery.

THE ANTHILL by Daniel Gilles. A small, isolated mining community in Africa is the scene for a novel about the white and the black people in Africa and the vast chasm between them, and also the chasm which is sometimes between people of the same race and who cannot understand each other even when they try.

THE PRAETORIANS by Jean Larteguy. The French military personnel who served in Algeria are shown here in a period when many of them were too emotionally involved to remain soldiers and tried to become politicians instead.

THE CONCUBINE by Norah Loftis. A fictional biography of Anne Boleyn, one of the six wives of Henry VIII, and who ended by being beheaded. Miss Loftis is a competent writer, knows her history and does not tamper with it. This is a thoroughly enjoyable story of an always interesting period in English history.

DOUBLE EXPOSURE by Donald MacKenzie. A novel of suspense about an Englishman with a criminal record who has the choice given him of twelve years in prison or an extremely dangerous assignment in Germany to retrieve some film needed to prove a point in international relations.

Fadelys Busy At New Location In Liberia, W. Africa

Rev. and Mrs. William Longworth have received word from Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Fadely formerly of Salem, who are spending two years as missionaries at Ganta, Liberia, West Africa.

Mr. Fadely will assist with the hospital administration there and Mrs. Fadely will be bookkeeper and postmistress.

Their furniture arrived by boat the last of July and will be transported 175 miles to Ganta where they will occupy "a beautiful stone house with office attached."

They report that the hospital is large, modern and Liberians and Americans work there together in true Christian brotherhood. "The leprosarium is unique," they said, "a little village in itself where families live in their little mud huts and are self-sustaining and so very friendly."

"There is a little stone church that nestles into the palm trees at one with the lush green beauty of the surrounding jungle. . . . It is impossible not to feel God's presence within its walls and we are so glad that it stands near our home."

They wrote of the native villages - little thatched mud-huts forming a background for the natives who wear brilliant colors, and carry high loads on their heads, as well as babies strapped to their backs. They set up their little markets all along the road to sell carving, woven wares and the luscious fruits that grow there.

Bananas sell for 50 to 75 cents for the entire stalk. Tangerines, oranges, honey-sweet pineapple, butter pears (avocados) and papaya melons all are offered for sale at the small markets.

The Fadelys have attended several government functions two where the president of Liberia was the guest speaker.

Their address is The College of West Africa, Monrovia, Liberia, West Africa. There is no mail delivery in Liberia, so they must put up their mail at Monrovia.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Heloise: I have read your method of washing cars by filling a plastic bucket with about a gallon of warm water . . . pouring in a cup of kerosene, dipping in the sponge, squeezing it out and sponging the entire car . . . and taking a bath towel and wiping it. Now I would like to give just a little different version of this car washing method. Instead of using this method for three years as you have, I have used the kerosene method for 30 years! I first used it when starting in my own car station.

We use a cloth instead of a sponge and squeeze it as dry as possible. The application should be done in the shade on cool metal and glass.

Pull the car in the sun and allow it to dry after washing.

Then take a clean, dry, soft cloth to polish it. Perfectly done . . . it certainly can't be beat!

JOHN O. KERNER.

DEAR FOLKS: Here's a word of caution:

This method does NOT apply to cars that have road film! A good cleaner has to be used on the car to remove the film before you can polish it with anything.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: You have really taught me how to save and save. Now we don't waste anything in our family . . . not even that little dab of jelly or jam left in the jar. You know a knife or spoon never thoroughly cleans it out.

We pour any kind of syrup into the jam jar, add a little bit of lemon juice and shake well. The result is the best tasting stuff you have ever eaten. Just try it on waffles or hot cakes!

Now we add a tablespoon or two of jelly to all our syrups.

JAKE THE WIDOWER.

DEAR JAKE: Have you tried throwing a little crushed pineapple in your syrup? If you like the taste of pineapple it's really great.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When I cook hamburgers . . . I wrap the meat in a piece of aluminum foil and poke some holes in the top of it. This keeps those spatters of grease in the skillet while cooking and ye lets the steam out so the patty isn't "up-to-her" in water! Makes for a lovely hamburger.

MRS. ALLAN AITHERTON.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a helpful hint:

When housecleaning . . . remove your light switch plates from the wall, put them in warm soapy water and let them soak a few minutes and then take that wonderful old vegetable brush and scrub them. Presto! In no time at all those little cracks and crevasses are completely clean.

A WORKING HOUSEWIFE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: A good way to keep peace in the house is to let the dear man talk and talk and talk . . .

Don't say a word unless it is super-proper. Look interested, cheerful, not martyred and when there is time . . . write him a letter telling him exactly what you were thinking! Mail the letter back to yourself and label it "to the wastebasket" and be sure it gets there.

This clears the air! If you talk back you only add fuel to the flame that requires a lot of burning later.

If we knock him down with words we may have to look down at him for a long time. It is much better not to knock him down in the first place.

A WIFE.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

$30 Stolen From Two Lisbon Firms

LISBON — An estimated $30 in cash was taken from the offices of the Lisbon Steel Fabricating Inc. and William's Trucking Co., Grant St., between 8 p.m. Wednesday and 6:50 a.m. today, according to Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan.

Congress Must Pass Rights Bills, Sen. Young Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Expected filibusters aimed at blocking the pending civil rights legislation must not be allowed to stop Congress from passing these bills, says Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio.

Young said Congress should stay in session as long as it takes to enact the civil rights measures.

He told the Senate Wednesday he would vote for cloture (ending of debate and immediate vote on the issue) after all senators had been given ample opportunity to express their views. If a cloture petition failed, Young added, he and his colleagues should be prepared to sit out the filibusters despite "serious hardship" some contend this would cause some senators.

"There just cannot be any compromise on civil rights," Young said. "No greater domestic issue faces our country today than the problem of guaranteeing first-class citizenship for all Americans."

Franklin Trustees OK Fire Equipment

Ralph Cox, president, conducted the monthly business meeting of the Franklin Township Volunteer Fire Department trustees Wednesday at the fire hall, with seven members present.

The group signed a contract with Motorola Communications and Electronics, Inc. to lease two radios for fire department use. One will be placed in the emergency car and the other will be used in the fire truck.

Radios presently in use are rented from Ralph Villers of Steubenville. The change is in compliance with new regulations on radio frequencies for fire department use. Donald C. Todd of Youngstown, company representative, said the equipment will be delivered and installed in approximately six weeks.

Utility bills of $7.26 were paid. Next meeting will be Oct. 2.

The phrase "Go West, young man, go West" did not originate with Horace Greeley, but first was used in an editorial by John Soule. Later it was reprinted by Greeley, to whom it generally is credited because of his great prominence.

Gosney

the immediate removal of Whitehouse on the grounds of political activity while holding a post in the classified service.

Whitehouse was named to the county post a few months ago, succeeding James DeLuce of Salem, who was transferred to New Philadelphia and later returned to the Salem outpost of the Highway Department as labor foreman, Gosney said.

Whitehouse recently sent a formal request to the County Election Board, asking that his name be removed from the Nov. 5 ballot. However, the board declined the request, pointing out the deadline for withdrawals already had passed.

A wave of transfers and other job changes within the Highway Department began earlier in the year when Gov. James A. Rhodes' Republican administration assumed office, replacing Michael V. DiSalle, Democrat.

The reason we're pushing this case is that they have transferred our people all over the state, trying to make it so unpleasant for them that they will resign," Gosney charged.

Complaints of Transfers

Gosney said at least five men employed under Civil Service as truck drivers in the Highway Department in Columbiana County have been transferred to jobs in other areas. They have been sent to spots in Belmont County and jobs at Cadiz, New Philadelphia and Millersburg, which is in Holmes County, he said.

"One man who was transferred to New Philadelphia had to quit his job because he has a large family and could not afford the expense of driving back and forth such a long distance every day," Gosney said.

Although Whitehouse never has taken an examination for the Highway Department job, holding it on a provisional status, he still is subject to state Civil Service rules barring workers in the classified service from engaging in political activity, Gosney declared.

Gosney said no such wave of transfers of Highway Department personnel occurred in the last four state administrations—both Republican and Democratic—a span totaling 18 years.

North Lima Woman Hurt In Collision

A North Lima woman was treated and released at Youngstown Southside Hospital for lacerations of the face and body after she was involved in a car-truck mishap at 6 a.m. today.

According to the Canfield barracks of the state highway patrol, Evelyn Weisenberger, 32, was traveling south on Rt. 7 near Youngstown when she ran into the rear of a truck driven by Willis Warren, 33, of Youngstown. She was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Woman, 105, Dislikes Long Hospital Stays

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The biggest problem with Mrs. Julia Eckert is "slowing her down," according to the sisters of St. Rita's Home.

Mrs. Eckert will be 105 Saturday.

A week ago Mrs. Eckert fell. She fractured three ribs in six places and was taken to the hospital for treatment. She was back at the home in time for dinner that evening.

She was sent back to the hospital with a threat of pneumonia. However, she was to be released again today — in time for her birthday party.

"She'd better be here," commented the sisters. "She's invited everyone to the party and they're all counting on it."

Cahill was a customer at the bar and became involved in an argument with Mr. Shelton, the bartender, who hit him with a bottle, whereupon Mr. Cahill produced a gun and shot Shelton in the chest and arm, police reported.

Mr. Cahill is receiving treatment for multiple lacerations of the scalp and left leg.

building of thousands of new fortified hamlets to protect the peasants.

But some authorities said that while intelligence has improved there is no reliable way of knowing how many new men the Communists have sent into South Viet Nam or to what extent the Reds have been able to replace lost weapons.

Also, it was said, there is evidence that some areas believed regained from the Communists have not stayed that way—that the peasants backslid when government forces moved on.

Tran Van Chuong, South Viet Nam's former ambassador to the United States, told The Associated Press Wednesday in an interview that the Diem government has irreparably lost the support of its people.

No amount of foreign aid can carry Diem's regime to victory, Chuong said. Still, he added, aid to Viet Nam cannot be abruptly stopped without losing it to the Communists.

"This dilemma seems insoluble," he continued, "because almost all of the material forces in Viet Nam are in the hands of dictators who are determined to use the population of Saigon, including the Americans there—and even the freedom of Viet Nam—to blackmail the United States into continuing its aid to a regime which has irreparably lost the support of the people and can no longer lead them to victory."

Chuong quit his post after Diem's brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, raided Buddhist pagodas Aug. 21 and rounded up hundreds of monks and nuns. Chuong resigned as South Viet Nam's permanent observer at the United Nations.

Chuong avoided all references in the interview to his daughter, who is Nhu's wife.

which has been committed and the threat of violence."

Enrollment of Dwight and Floyd Armstrong, Negro brothers, at Graymont Elementary School was "accomplished only by means of display of armed force and massive congregation of armed city and county law enforcement officers," the petition said.

Affidavits by five state investigators and Albert J. Lingo, state public safety director, said continued school integration in their opinion would result in "violence, civil insurrection and sabotage."

The Negro brothers registered minutes before jeering disorders erupted in front of the school when about 100 white persons, led by members of the National States Rights party, tried to storm police lines.

Another flareup of violence came at Ramsay High. A policeman was hurt in a clash with demonstrators and six persons were arrested.

At High Point, N.C., an estimated 1,000 white persons surrounded a segregated drive-in restaurant and prevented a group of Negroes from seeking service.

The Rev. B. Elton Cox, a field representative for the Congress of Racial Equality, was struck in the face by a white man, police said. The white man was arrested.

Elsewhere in the nation, desegregation activities were mainly peaceful. However, the second day of public school integration in Charleston, S.C., brought the second false bomb scare.

Charleston High was emptied for 15 minutes while the building was searched and then classes resumed. Rivers High had a similar incident Tuesday.

Reverse desegregation took place at North Little Rock, Ark., where Mrs. Yvonne Fitts entered her 6-year-old son in a Negro school despite telephone threats and vandalism to her home. Mrs. Fitts, 26, said she was a firm believer in integration.

At Raleigh, N.C., Gov. Terry Sanford told parents of Negro children who are boycotting two North Carolina schools that attendance is mandatory and the schools will be kept open.

He issued the statement after reports from Williamston indicated a boycott of the E. J. Hayes school was almost 100 per cent effective. However, attendance at the Consolidated Winchester Avenue school at Monroe returned to normal. There was a partial boycott Tuesday.

Negro children staged sit-ins at three predominantly white elementary schools in Englewood, N.J., protesting the delay of a plan to end racial imbalance in the schools.

Police arrested five Negro demonstrators during a sit-in at one predominantly white elementary school and ejected others from another school at Malverne, N.Y.

In addition there was a picket line and a partial boycott at a predominantly Negro school. The protests were against de facto segregation.

At Chicago, there was picketing at several schools and a walk-in at the offices of the Board of Education when public schools opened. Fifteen persons were taken into custody by police.

Petersburg, Va., gave up its position as Virginia's largest city with public school segregation. Twelve Negro pupils entered classes in three formerly white schools without incident.

In the event of the death of a U.S. representative, the Constitution provides that the executive authority of his state shall issue Writ of Election to fill such vacancy. A representative is never appointed to fill a vacancy or a regular term.

Cohn Says He's Victim of Revenge

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy M. Cohn, anti-Communist investigator for the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, says he is the victim of "personal revenge and retaliation" following the indictment accusing him of perjury and obstruction of justice in a stock fraud probe.

Cohn, 36, an attorney, was indicted Wednesday by a federal grand jury along with another Manhattan lawyer, Murray E. Gottesman, 56. Both were charged with scheming to prevent the indictment of four men in a 1959 inquiry into a United Dye and Chemical Corp. stock swindle.

Cohn and Gottesman immediately denied the charges.

Cohn was chief counsel to the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations under McCarthy, and was the chief interrogator in the televised Army-McCarthy hearings on alleged Communist influence in the armed forces.

The hearings resulted in a Senate censure of McCarthy. Cohn resigned afterward as chief counsel to the subcommittee.

against aggression from any quarter. But they reported he has failed to quiet Pakistan's fear of Indian attack or allay resentment over U.S. military aid to India, Pakistan's neighbor and old enemy.

This has been the major topic in the talks Ball has conducted for the past three days.

President Kennedy sent Ball to Pakistan, an ally in two defense pacts and recipient of Western military aid, to learn its intentions in recent moves toward the Chinese Communists.

The United States has been concerned over Pakistani-Chinese border, trade and air transport agreements, all negotiated since the Chinese Communists attacked India last fall.

Angered by the stepped up flow of U.S. arms to India after the Indian-Chinese border fighting, various Pakistan officials have talked of quitting the Central Treaty Organization and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, both anti-Communist defense groupings.

Washington believes Pakistan's fear of Indian aggression has no basis in fact, U.S. source said.

Ex-Korea Premier's Stock Soars Following Arrest

By K. HWANG

SEOUL (AP)—The military regime's abrupt arrest of ailing ex-Premier Yo-han (Tiger) Song, a hero of the Korean War, sent his political stock soaring today. One party named him as its candidate for the presidency and other parties rallied to his cause.

While Song languished in dreaded Mapo Prison, the Liberal Democratic party's central committee met in Seoul and unanimously nominated him to oppose strongman Gen. Chung Hee Park in the presidential election Oct. 15.

Many Koreans had expressed belief Song's surprise arrest Wednesday was prompted by reports the Liberal Democrats intended to nominate him. The Liberal Democratic party was organized Tuesday as a breakaway movement from Park's Democratic Republican party.

In an unprecedented move, three major opposition parties merged and decided to select one candidate to oppose strongman Park.

"There is an apparent danger of a free election atmosphere being destroyed," the new party said in a statement denouncing Song's arrest.

Two other parties, while staying out of the new coalition, issued statements charging the latest arrest of Song was an attempt by the military regime to intimidate opponents and destroy any possibility of the elections being free.

Civilian politicians have charged that although Park has resigned from the army and will run as civilian, he and his followers in through rigged elections.

In Washington, the State Department termed Song's re-arrest

"high handed." The 47-year-old retired lieutenant general was arrested to await a military court-martial on old charges that he had illegally executed three soldiers in 1950 and slandered the military government in recent months. His trial is set for next Monday.

Killed was Mary Ann Bzoza. The driver of the car, Mrs. Gladys Hansen, 46, of Toledo, has been charged with second-degree manslaughter, driving while under the influence of liquor, and driving without an operator's license.

Espionage Network

German Spy Outfit Weathers Criticism

By HANS NEUERBOURG

MUNICH, Germany, (AP) — A whitewashed wall rings a wooded estate in a fashionable Munich suburb.

This is about all the outsiders see of the tightly guarded and mystery-laced headquarters of the "Bundesnachrichtendienst" — the German Federal Intelligence Service, or BND for short.

A more popular label is "Gehlen organization", named after its leader who set up the espionage network under American auspices when the cold war broke up the World War II alliance.

Former Lt. Gen. Reinhard Gehlen, in the business for more than 20 years, has an outfit of perhaps 4,000 men. Recently they have weathered an unprecedented onslaught of public criticism.

His agency became the target of violent attacks after a senior official, Heinz Felfe, was convicted as a Soviet agent in Germany's biggest spy trial since the war.

Court testimony at Karlsruhe disclosed Felfe and a codefendant,

Hans Clemens, during the Nazi era were both intelligence officials of the SS-controlled Reich security head office—which also employed Adolf Eichmann. Clemens admitted that he took part in the shooting of 330 Italian hostages.

Leaders of both opposition and government parties urged that the outfit be given a thorough going over. Newspapers spoke of a "Nazi nest in Munich". Some politicians clamored for merging BND with the two other German intelligence organizations.

The government took things in stride. The federal chancellery, to which Gehlen is immediately attached, let it be known that "far less than one per cent" of the Gehlen staff formerly were in SS ranks.

What's more, officials said, the fact that Felfe and Clemens were tracked down by the Gehlen people themselves — in 1961 — showed the agency's efficiency.

Gehlen first got into the espionage field in 1942 when he took over as head of the German army's "Foreign Armies East" department, assigned to collect information on buildups in the rear of the Red army front.

When the war ended, Gehlen possessed a wealth of data copied in triplicate and carefully stowed away in secret places. It is said that Gehlen got in touch with Gen. Edwin L. Sibert, then assistant director of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

U.S. Gen. George S. Patton, sensing early East-West tension, reportedly sent Gehlen to the United States where the German agreed to set up a new spy organization provided he got a free hand in picking his staff.

The Gehlen organization was provisionally headquartered in the wooded Spessart Mountains south of Frankfurt in 1947 and eventually moved to Pullach, a suburb of Munich. The Americans spent many millions on it before it was put under German control as a Bonn government agency in 1955.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Endometriosis Treated Successfully

"My doctor says I have endometriosis. What is it? Must I have an operation? I have received several letters from women similar to this one."

Dr. Brandstadt malignant growth of tissue resembling the lining of the uterus in various parts of the pelvic cavity.

Depending on the exact location of this abnormal growth and its extent, it may cause symptoms so mild as to go unnoticed.

It can cause severe menstrual cramps, pain on emptying the bowel at the time of menstruation, or ability to become pregnant.

Those who become pregnant in spite of their endometriosis are usually cured as a result of the pregnancy, but they constitute a fortunate minority.

The treatment first applied was surgical removal of the abnormal tissue. About 30 to 50 per cent of the women who were unable to conceive before the operation became pregnant afterward and had no further trouble due to this cause. In some women the disease was found on operation to be so extensive as to require removal of part of the bowel or of the ovaries or uterus.

NOW, BEFORE AN operation is advised, the woman who has endometriosis should be given a trial on medical treatment with norethynodrel, a hormone derived from a part of the ovary. This treatment suppresses menstruation and should be continued for six to 12 months.

A few women who take this drug complain of such undesirable side effects as nausea, tenderness of the breasts and irritability, but those who are able to take it are relieved of their painful symptoms.

When the drug is taken over a prolonged period there is a gradual disappearance of the abnormal tissue, so that when the treatment is successful a permanent cure can usually be claimed. A few recurrences have been reported.

In the 20 per cent in whom medical treatment is not successful, surgical treatment can still be resorted to. We are justified in saying, therefore, that with skillful treatment this annoying disease can be successfully treated in practically all those who have it.

Q—I am nearsighted. When my eye doctor changed my glasses last month he had to make the lenses stronger. My friends say that this means that my eyes are getting weaker. Will I eventually go blind?

A—The term "weak eyes" is one of the most frequently misapplied phrases in popular use.

No matter how strong the lens you need, if it corrects your vision so that you can read the 20-20 line on your doctor's eye chart, your eyes are not weak. Neither nearsightedness or any other error in refraction will cause blindness.

If you look through a pair of binoculars and everything is blurred, you adjust the length of the binocular tube and bring things back into focus. When your doctor fits you with glasses of any strength he brings things back into focus for you. Weak eyes Pop! rock!

1963 FOOTBALL REFEREE'S SIGNALS

Dodgers Lose 2-1, Loop Margin Is Cut To 5 Games

Cardinals Nip New York 6-5

Spahn Posts 19th; Braves Blank Bucs

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
In the big book of baseball strategy you walk a guy like Billy Williams to get at Ken Hubbs. So the Dodgers did.

Their National League lead is now down to five games over second-place St. Louis.

Hubbs, who led the league in strikeouts with 129 last year and was equally proficient at hitting into doubleplays, crossed up the book Wednesday night by lining a two-out single in the 11th inning that gave the Chicago Cubs a 2-1 decision over first-place Los Angeles.

The Dodgers' board of strategy held its meeting after Andre Rodgers led off the 11th with a single and moved around to second on a sacrifice. With two out, it was decided to give Williams—who outbats Hubbs by about 50 points—an intentional walk.

Boyer Drives In 100th Run
That decision lopped a full game off the Dodgers' lead over the surging Cardinals, who extended their longest winning streak of the season to seven games as Ken Boyer's 100th run batted in provided the decisive score in a 6-5 victory over the New York Mets.

Milwaukee's Warren Spahn grabbed part of the spotlight with a sparkling four-hit, 1-0 victory over Pittsburgh that gave him 19 victories for the season, the 60th shutout of his career and seventh place on the all-time list of winners with 346 triumphs.

In other games, Willie McCovey hit his 35th homer and Orlando Cepeda collected No. 26 as San Francisco walloped Houston 8-3 and pitcher Dennis Bennett provided the go-ahead run in Philadelphia's 3-2 decision over Cincinnati.

Hold NL Errorless Record
It stayed that way until the 11th when Hubbs stroked his decisive hit and wound up the night with a sparkling defensive play. The slick-fielding second baseman who set a major league record for most consecutive errorless games last year with 78, bailed reliever Lindy McDaniel, 11-6, out of a hole in the bottom of the 11th when he fielded Willie Davis' grounder with one out and nailed Marv Breeding trying to score from third base. McDaniel then got Lee Walls on a fly to end it.

Stan Musial drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a sacrifice fly as the Cardinals built a 5-1 lead. The Mets rallied for four runs in the top of the seventh with Ed Kranepool's fourth hit producing the tie. Then, in the bottom half, NL batting leader Dick Groat doubled and Boyer followed with the decisive hit. Sam Jones, 2-0, got the victory, Larry Bearnarth, 3-7, the loss.

UNFAIR CATCH

Area High School Grid Predictions

As We See It.....

By Lynn Browne and Glenn Schotten

It's that time, again! There's a slight nip in the air leaves are beginning to turn to their autumn shades and almost anywhere one looks there seems to be football in the air, whether it's a pickup game in a vacant lot or a high school game with bands and cheerleaders.

What teams are going to win in the area high school ranks? That is what we are going to try to tell you this season with our "fearless prognostications."

And it isn't an easy job. This week there are several games which could go either way without being described as even a mild upset.

But enough of that, let's get on with this week's forecast.

WE SEE Coach Bud Bucher's Lisbon Blue Devils downing Carrollton by one TD when they get together at the Carroll County Fairgrounds. The return of Gary Peruchetti plus the speed of Dave Rose should prove too much for the Devils' opponents. Besides that, they're a sentimental favorite.

Beaver, Pa., always a threat, especially to Ohio squads, are 10 points better than the rebuilding Wellsville Tigers. It looks like a long season for Coach Ken Woods' crew.

Canfield gets the nod over East Palestine by the flip of a coin — and that's the truth. This is one of those games we mentioned earlier where anything can — and probably will — happen.

Minerva is our choice over Newton Falls by one TD. We don't know too much about Newton Falls so we'll stick with the Lions of the Tri-County League.

LOUISVILLE, powerhouse of the Tri-County loop, beat Canton Glenwood 20-0 last year and should do it by about the same margin Friday night.

In the last of Friday's games, we pick Sebring over McDonald by two points. This is another one we are crossing our fingers on.

Saturday we have to vote Mineral Ridge over Crestview. The Ramblers are supposed to have a tremendous year while Coach Dave Habeger's Rebels are injury-riddled. A one TD margin for Mineral Ridge.

LEETONIA'S BEARS, under new head coach Carl Kokor, should get the season off to a booming start by downing United by two TDs, not too good a beginning for the Golden Eagles' new mentor, Al Carrino, but then things may get better later in the year.

Greenford is two points better than Southern Local — we hope. Coach Ike Farrah, ex-mentor at Leetonia, should lead his Marlington crew over West Branch by one touchdown.

Beaver Local isn't going to beat East Liverpool two seasons in a row. We see the Potters paddling the Beavers for last year's naughtiness by three touchdowns.

Lowellville with its impressive record should roll over Western Reserve by three touchdowns.

For the final game on this week's card, we see Springfield Local over North Lima by two points — and a prayer.

We'll be back next week with our score this week and more predictions.

Only 2 Rookies May Make Browns' Team

CLEVELAND (AP)—Of the 25 rookies who came to the Cleveland Browns' training camp almost two months ago, only two seem assured of sticking with the squad.

The lucky two are defensive halfback Larry Benz of Northwestern and defensive tackle Jim Kanicki of Michigan State. Five other freshmen are still on the squad, but their status is shaky.

The quintet who may not survive the final cutdown to 37 before the National Football League starts play are guard Tom Goosby of Baldwin-Wallace, ends Tom Hutchinson of Kentucky and Clifton McNeil of Grambling, fullback Frank Baker of Toledo and offensive tackle Roger Shoals of Maryland.

Hutchinson was the Browns' first draft choice in 1962, but the Browns are loaded with receivers — Rich Kreitling, Ray Renfro, John Brewer, Bobby Crespi and Gary Collins. All rate ahead of Hutchinson, who played for Coach Blanton Collier when the new Browns' coach piloted Kentucky.

Ted Connolly, the offensive line man acquired from the San Francisco 49ers, was to report to League Park today. But this does not mean the Browns must cut another player immediately. Commissioner Pete Rozelle has ruled that Connolly, who was on San Francisco's voluntarily retired list, may have some time to get into playing condition.

Hartsough Fires 68 For Golf Club Win

Results of tourney play recently and the Labor Day event held at Salem Golf Club are as follows.

Clarence Hartsough fired a 68 in Flight A of tourney action to take top honors, while 69s were fired by Charles Moorehead, Jack Harroff and Dick Lawrence for a second place tie.

Pete Johnson carded a 66 to triumph in Flight B. Ken Pinkerton came in second with a 68, and 71s were posted by Bill Jones and Ralph Moffett.

Al White took first place in the first flight of the Labor Day card. Fred Cope finished second and Ray Reasbeck was third.

Don Loch took the second flight honors. Earl Miller was second and Bill Stevenson placed third. Blind bogie winners included Stevenson, Maurice Sandrock, "Butch" Konnerth, Reasbeck, Loch, Frank Henry, Ed Thomas, Ray B'air, Glenn Harding and Lester Kille.

Captures Salem Invitational Softball Event

Akron Angie's Behind MVP Fugate Trims Youngstown Local 1331 3-1

For awhile last night it appeared that favorite Akron Angie's Pizza would be upset in the finals of the Salem Invitational Softball Tournament at Kelley Field.

After losing the first game 4-1 to Youngstown Local 1331, Angie's rallied for three runs in the fourth inning of the second tilt to wrap up the title 3-1.

"Rip" Fugate, who was selected the most valuable player, arrived from work to pitch the final three and a third innings of the second contest.

He struck out six batters during his limited stint and gave up two hits. During the tourney he hurled 17 2-3 innings, gave up but four hits and fanned 37 batters.

The winner and runnerup were given trophies at the conclusion of the event. Similar awards went to players of the all-star squad which included Dan Morgan of Youngstown Local 1331, first base; Chip Goss of Lorain Old Dutch, second base; Will Odenkirk of Wooster Shearer, third base; Eddie Garasic of Youngstown Local 1331, shortstop; outfielders Art Bucher of Wooster Shearer, "Buster" Rizzo of Akron Angie's Pizza and Milo Sturgis of Wooster Shearer; catcher Jack Dalrymple of Akron Angie's Pizza and pitchers Jack Harris and Fugate.

In the first game last night, Local 1331 picked up a run in the second, one in the fourth and finished up with two more in the fifth.

Pete Nolasco collected a double and single for the winners. Dean Sterling had two singles and Dick Blair a bingle for the losers' only hits off winning hurler Jack Harris.

Angie's picked up its three markers for the championship in the bottom of the fourth on a hit batter, single by Fugate, an error and a double by Ben Nehlsen.

Youngstown rallied in the sixth for one run as George Kapzulec led off with a single and raced home on a double by Tom Anness.

Fugate collected two hits to pace the winners. Dan Morgan hit a single in the fourth for the only other hit Local 1331 got.

Aparicio's Bases-Full Homer For Chisox Spills Indians 6-5

CLEVELAND (AP) — So the Cleveland Indians are hitting home runs these days. What good is it? Their opponents are hitting them too.

The Indians got a pair of solo homers Wednesday night from Jim (Mudcat) Grant and Tito Francona, but the Baltimore Orioles used a grand slam shot by little Luis Aparicio for a 6-5 triumph over the Tribe.

Cleveland now has connected for at least one homer in each of its last 16 games, closing in on the record 25 set by the 1941 New York Yankees.

During the Indians' homer string they have blasted 25 homers but have lost 9 of 16 games. Opposing batters have hit 23 homers in the same span.

Oddly, both Cleveland and its foes have scored 76 runs — almost five a game. But the Indians have dropped four one-run games.

The Indians took a 2-0 lead for Grant Wednesday night against Robin Roberts. Then the Orioles tied it up and Grant's homer in the fifth put the Tribe in front 3-2.

But in the sixth, a single by Jackie Brandt and a pair of walks loaded the bases for light-hitting Aparicio. He hit the jackpot with his first grand slam homer of his eight-year major league career. He's only had 34 homers.

That made it 6-3, but the Indians fought back with Francona's homer in the seventh and another run in the eighth. Cleveland had another threat in the ninth when Max Alvis singled with two out and Fred Whitfield sent him to third with his fourth hit.

But relief ace Stu Miller made his 21st save for the Orioles by fanning pinch hitter John Romano on three pitches.

The Indians are idle today. They return to action in Washington Friday night in the first of a 3 game series. Dick Donovan (11-11) is scheduled to pitch for the Tribe.

130 Cars Set For Canfield Racing Card

Stock car racing will resume at Canfield Speedway on Saturday night and Manager Charlie Findlay announces that time trials will be moved up to 6:30 p.m.

Previously trials began at 7, but because of the huge number of entries, the time has been moved ahead to give all drivers a chance to qualify.

The feature race field is taken from the fastest 25 qualifiers. Thus those who didn't qualify didn't have a chance to make the feature.

Upwards of 130 cars, late models and amateurs, will be in the lineup Saturday night after being idle for four weeks. Rainouts and the annual fair curtailed action.

The last race was staged Aug. 10 and Bill Larson and Bill Forney, both of Youngstown, won features. Both Larson and Forney are leading the Canfield point standings in the late model and amateur divisions.

Vince Carbone of Warren has his amateur car running in good condition now and he will race among the favorites. Carbone ran second behind Larson the last time out.

Phil Wertz of Canfield followed Forney across the line.

The long-awaited duel between Jerry Kavinsky of Youngstown and Gus DeLong of Struthers will be held Saturday night. The grudge race will pair Kavinsky up with Bill Larson and DeLong with Paul Miller, also of Struthers.

All of the top late model stars will be back in action and Jim Bickerstaff of Mineral Ridge will be attempting to regain his stride. Bickerstaff won two in a row before Forney grabbed the nod the last time out. Also entered will be Nook Walters, Dick Lantz, Paul Kerr, Bob Greer, Chuck Dorsey and many more.

Jerald Jackard, once a wrestler at Michigan State, has a scholarship to study sculpture at the Florence Academy of Fine Arts in Italy.

Dartmouth College quarterback Rick Worland works summers as an advertising model in New York City.

Salem Gold Bar In Finals Of Softball Event

Salem Gold Bar has reached the finals of the East Liverpool Softball Tournament and will meet Chester, W. Va., VFW in the Potter City tonight at 7.

The Salem aggregation will have to take a pair of games to win the championship. Chester is unbeaten in seven starts, while Gold Bar is 6-1.

Gold Bar reached the finals by nipping East Liverpool Gallagher's Market 5-4 on a seventh inning home run by Eckstein. Miller belted a two-run homer in the sixth.

Ed Stefane led Gold Bar with two singles, and he scored two of the five runs.

Manager Marv Sosbe will start Mike Milish on the mound for Gold Bar tonight.

World Series Of Golf Is Scheduled Saturday

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Steady Julius Boros, spectacular Arnold Palmer, strongbow Jack Nicklaus and southpaw Bob Charles tee off today for a practice round in the 36-hole World Series of Golf, which will be played Saturday and Sunday.

The fancy foursome, who will be firing for the $50,000 first prize, plan another practice round Friday before playing for keeps.

Nicklaus, the 23-year-old former Ohio State University golfing ace, won the big pot last year with a 135, beating Palmer and Gary Player by four strokes in the inaugural event.

Victory Erases Last Australian From Field Froehling Whips Aussies' Ace Emerson In Tennis Tourney

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—The back of the Australian tennis dynasty is broken—and some of the most telling licks were dealt by a stringbean cannonballer from Florida anxious to avenge a big snub.

"It was the greatest tennis I ever played, and I couldn't have picked a better time to play it," Frank Froehling III of Coral Gables, Fla., said excitedly Wednesday night after pulling off one of the biggest upsets of the year.

He knocked out Roy Emerson of Australia, rated the world's No. 1 amateur, with an explosive service and volleying attack in the fourth round of the National championships, 6-4, 4-6, 9-7, 6-2. Although second-ranked nationally, Froehling had been overlooked by Davis Cup selectors and the seeding committee this year.

The victory erased the last Australian from the field, marking the first time since 1950 that Australia has been shut out of the men's quarter-finals at Forest Hills.

It puts an entirely different aspect on the Davis Cup challenge round, to be contested in December in Adelaide, Australia. Going into the quarter-finals, half of which will be contested today, are four Americans, Froehling, Marty Riessen, Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston; two Brazilians, Ronald Barnes and Thomas Koch; Mexico's Rafael Osuna and England's talented but erratic Bobby Wilson.

Wilson, who smashed young Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis out of his path 6-3, 6-0, 6-1 Wednesday, is Froehling's next opponent. They meet in one of the two men's matches today, with Ralston and Barnes clashing in the other.

The other two men's matches Friday send top-seeded McKinley, the Wimbledon champion, against the sensational, 18-year-old Koch, and Osuna against Riessen. McKinley, his bad back apparently spurred by a plea from Commissioner Paul Landis to observe the rules of sportsmanship.

Victory Erases Last Australian From Field Froehling Whips Aussies' Ace Emerson In Tennis Tourney

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—The back of the Australian tennis dynasty is broken—and some of the most telling licks were dealt by a stringbean cannonballer from Florida anxious to avenge a big snub.

"It was the greatest tennis I ever played, and I couldn't have picked a better time to play it," Frank Froehling III of Coral Gables, Fla., said excitedly Wednesday night after pulling off one of the biggest upsets of the year.

He knocked out Roy Emerson of Australia, rated the world's No. 1 amateur, with an explosive service and volleying attack in the fourth round of the National championships, 6-4, 4-6, 9-7, 6-2. Although second-ranked nationally, Froehling had been overlooked by Davis Cup selectors and the seeding committee this year.

The victory erased the last Australian from the field, marking the first time since 1950 that Australia has been shut out of the men's quarter-finals at Forest Hills.

It puts an entirely different aspect on the Davis Cup challenge round, to be contested in December in Adelaide, Australia. Going into the quarter-finals, half of which will be contested today, are four Americans, Froehling, Marty Riessen, Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston; two Brazilians, Ronald Barnes and Thomas Koch; Mexico's Rafael Osuna and England's talented but erratic Bobby Wilson.

Wilson, who smashed young Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis out of his path 6-3, 6-0, 6-1 Wednesday, is Froehling's next opponent. They meet in one of the two men's matches today, with Ralston and Barnes clashing in the other.

The other two men's matches Friday send top-seeded McKinley, the Wimbledon champion, against the sensational, 18-year-old Koch, and Osuna against Riessen. McKinley, his bad back apparently spurred by a plea from Commissioner Paul Landis to observe the rules of sportsmanship.

Sauerkraut and Spareribs Is Tasty Meal

Sauerkraut is such a natural accompaniment to so many of our dishes that we consider it American. Strangely enough, it's not of German origin either. It was first known in China as long ago as the third century. From there it made the trek East by roving bands of Tartars. It became firmly established in Germany by the 16th century where sauerkraut acquired its name and method of preparation. It took another 300 years before it became internationally well-known. Although sauerkraut goes so well with any number of pork and beef dishes, try it with spare ribs which have been baked to a golden brown. A combination of fruits in which pineapple slices play the leading role may be served as a salad or dessert with this main dish.

SAUERKRAUT and SPARE RIBS
2 to 3 lbs spare ribs, 1 Table-spoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 medium size onion, 2 cans (1 lb. each) bavarian sauerkraut, ¼ cup water.
Place ribs in large, flat pan. Top with salt, lemon juice, and slices of onion. Bake uncovered, at 450 deg. F. for 30 minutes. Cover ribs with sauerkraut. Add water. Cover, bake at 350 deg. F. for 90 minutes Serves 3-4.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Country Store

We are going to enlarge our parking lot again. I have purchased a home just down the road here overlooking Copeland Lake.

Each year our lawn gets a little smaller and the parking lot a little larger. Now it will be all parking lot.

On weekends the lot gets rather crowded. It hurts me to see people drive through the lot and out because there was no room for them.

Be sure to visit the Columbiana Street Fair this weekend. Stop at our booth in the merchants tent.

Obnoxious Remarks

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that schoolteachers get tired of hearing:

"In addition to your teaching duties, Miss Elmo, we expect you to act as chaperon at school dances put on three plays a year and serve as career counselor. We sure would appreciate it, too, if you could help take tickets at the football games this fall."

"Well, yes, you have the experience all right, but speaking frankly, we'd hoped to get a younger teacher with a more advanced degree. After all, the job pays $3,650 a year."

"We realize you have to make both ends meet, Mr. Johnson, but I'm afraid we can't countenance moonlighting. It just doesn't look right for a high school civics teacher to hold a job on the side as a night watchman."

"I think you'll find us a pretty liberal school board, Miss Elmo. We haven't burned a library book in three — no, I think it's four years."

"My teacher used to hit my palm with a ruler if I couldn't spell a word. You won't do that to my little Oswald, will you?"

"This is by no means a hide-bound community, Miss Elmo, but I think you'd make a bigger hit with the parents if you—uh—wore a little less makeup and—uh—didn't use a cigarette holder in public."

"Yes, Mr. Johnson looks harmless enough now, but my cousin knew him in college and says he was always circulating petitions for something or other—I forget what."

"Ain't you the new schoolmarm, ma'am? Whatcha got on for tonight? I'm free as a bird."

"Johnson, what's this nonsense you've been giving my wife about my boy being socially shy? I've told that kid a dozen times I'd break every bone in his head if he didn't speak up in class when it was his turn."

"I admit we're paying you less than the town dog catcher, Mr. Johnson — but he's the mayor's brother-in-law, and besides, he has to work all summer."

"My child never acts that way at home. If he didn't learn it here at school, where did he learn it?"

"We're proud to have you, Miss Elmo, but I guess nobody will ever take the place of Miss Greene in our hearts. She served in our school system for 45 years — until she retired this summer and entered an old ladies' home with all the money she'd saved."

LONG WAIT

PINE, Ariz. (AP)—Justice of the Peace Isaac Hunt decided it was time to ask the County Board of Supervisors for a pay raise.

Hunt said he hasn't had a pay hike since he took the justice job in this northern Arizona community. That was 25 years ago.

There is no constitutional or statutory provision nor any provisional rule of Congress which requires a member-elect to show up when Congress convenes or even show up at all.
